Arthritis Month Presentation sponsored by Prevea Health Are you suffering from arthritis pain? May 24

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

GREEN BAY, Wis. —May 20, 2010—In recognition of Arthritis Month in May, Prevea Health is sponsoring an educational presentation aimed to make people more aware of arthritis and the issues involved.

With more than 46 million Americans diagnosed, chances are you know someone who is battling the pain of arthritis on a regular basis. Arthritis is a term for conditions that damage the joints in your body. With arthritis, the cartilage between your bones wears away over time and your bones rub together causing pain. There are nearly 100 different types of arthritis.

If you are suffering from arthritis pain, come to this free seminar to find out how to take care of your bones and joints. Understanding treatments available to maintain and improve the health of your joints is the first step in helping you lead a more active life. Prevea Orthopedic Surgeon Rolf Lulloff, MD, will present on how arthritis pain affects your lifestyle, arthritis types, how to manage it, and surgical options.

St. Mary's Hospital Physical Therapists are also offering a free Falls and Balance Screening to some of the presentation attendees. The 15-minute screening will determine your risk level of falls. It includes testing, evaluation and consultation.
